GRIDMEN AIM FOR VICTORY OVER W. & L.

Frosh Organize September 27; Vigilance Committee Formed

Officers Elected By Sophomores; Freshman Class Meets Tuesday

Gigantic Pep Rallies Are Slated for Thursday and Friday

VIGILANTES ORGANIZED

Sophomores Elect Floyd As Chairman; Secretary and
V-Chairman Also Chosen

The meeting of the Freshman Class for the purpose of electing their officers will be held on Tuesday, September 27, between 4:30 and 5:10, at the Gymnasium. Immediately following the orientation on Wednesday, September 21, at room 10, building W, there will be some talks explaining the Freshman system and what will be expected of the Freshman.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, at 8 p. m., there will be a Freshman pep rally in the Yard for the purpose of teaching the University yells and songs. On the following day, Friday, the student body will have its send off rally for the W. & L. game. This will be held in the Yard between 4:30 and 5:10. The Sophomore Class was organized last Thursday night. Bourke Floyd was elected chairman; Amanda Chittum vice chairman and Harriet Atwell secretary.

Robert D. Savage was appointed temporary chairman by the Student Council to superintend the formation of a representative, interested group until the election last Thursday of the chairman of the Vigilance Committee. This group of over 100 energetic students will form the authentic Sophomore Class organization until the formal election, the date of which has not been set.

There is a Senior advisory board, headed by Savage to give assistance to the Sophomores. This board will be composed of five Seniors who are familiar with Freshman system.

The Vigilance Committee appointed a sub-committee of nine members to help the Freshman Class in their organization and in any other way they see fit. With the able assistance of the Student Council and the various other associations on the campus the unusually early organization of this body has been made possible.

Piratical Cruise of Caribbean Proves Adventurous, Though Financial Failure

Specimens, Photographs Brought Back for Metropolitan Museum and New York Times; Volley-Ball, Chess and Senoritas Provide Entertainment

Slow sailing, unforeseen expenses, lack of experience (this being the first attempt of the sort ever undertaken by a non-scientific organization, and unincorporated expedition), all were factors which combined to cut down the original itinerary planned for the Piratical Cruise headed by Ron Hubbard, student in the School of Engineering. The five other George Washington University men that sailed with the cruise were Ray Heimburger, Joe Michelson, Frances Langford, Jack Lockwood, and Harold Glidden.

Although the expedition was a financial failure, nevertheless the adventures and the scientific ends accomplished well compensated for the financial deficit; the boys all had a great time, according to Hubbard and Heimburger.

The Doris Hamlin, the 200-foot, four-masted schooner, in which the boys sailed, covered about 5,000 miles, and stopped at four of the originally scheduled sixteen ports. Those visited were Bermuda, Port-au-Prince, Martinique, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, and Ponce, Porto Rico.

Tickets to Lexington

Tickets for the special train to the W. and L. game for next Saturday may be procured at the Bursar's Office, 21st and G streets; The Hatchet Office, 2016 H street; University Store, basement of Stockton Hall, and from the Student Council desk in the registration formation in Corcoran Hall.

Students Will Share Supply Shop Profits

Prices Low in Store; Purchase
Cards Exchanged for Stock

Reorganization of the University Supply Store on a cooperative basis, with students sharing in the profits has been announced by the University. In addition to furnishing students with stationery and other supplies at greatly reduced prices, it will pay dividends to them.

Instead of selling supplies directly over the counter, cards with face value of $1, $3, $5 and $10 will be sold to students. The sale price of the articles bought will be entered on the card. When the full value of the card is used up, it is to be turned in to the University Store, where it is placed to the credit of the student. At the end of the year, shares of stock in the store at the par value of $1 will be allotted to each student equal to the aggregate amount of the cards credited to him. Thus, if a student had purchased $5 worth of supplies, he would receive five shares of stock in the cooperative store. Dividends will be paid to each student in proportion to the number of shares held by him.

The cards will be on sale at the University Supply Store, located in the basement of the Law School, and at the bursar's office.

A branch of the store is being operated in the Medical School for the convenience of students of that department.

Heads of Education School Establish Doctor's Degree

The establishment of the degree of doctor of education, with the beginning of the school year of 1932-33, has been recently announced by Dean William Carl Ruediger, of the George Washington University School of Education.

Registrar's Office Sets Forth Rules For Matriculation

Former Students and Accepted
New Students Go to
Corcoran Hall

Complete information for registration for the first semester of the 1932-33 school year at George Washington, has just been issued by the Registrar's office. Registration procedure for both new and old students is contained in the rules which follow.

Procedure of Registration.—Students in residence the second semester of 1931-32 and the Summer Session of 1932, and new students who have been properly accepted, will be admitted at once to Corcoran hall, 21st street entrance. Old students not in residence as above, and new students just applying for admission, will report to the Admissions Office, Building G, and when cleared will be admitted to Corcoran hall as above.

The routing in Corcoran hall will be as follows:

- (a) Registration forms will be issued and filled in Room 10.
- (b) The student will be directed from Room 10 to the division or school in which he is qualified to register, where his program of study will be made up.

Glee Club Members Meet September 27

Membership in Group Is on Competitive Basis; Tryouts Next Week

The George Washington University Glee Club, again under the direction of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Harmon, will begin its new year immediately following the opening of school.

A meeting of the men of last year's club will be held in Room 29, Corcoran Hall, on Tuesday, September 27, at 7:30 p. m. Any old member desirous of remaining with the club but unable to attend this meeting should not fail to communicate with Dr. Harmon.

Tryouts for new men will take place on Thursday, September 29, at the same time and place.

Building around a strong nucleus of experienced men, Dr. Harmon hopes to fashion a unit that will rival, if not excel the nationally-renowned clubs of the past few years.

Membership in the new club will be on a purely competitive basis. Applicants will be selected with regard to the quality of their voices, no preference being shown to members of former clubs.

Tryouts for the Women's Glee Club will be held on Saturday, October 1, in C. H. 29.

All Freshmen Must Attend Special Assemblies Friday

All students registering in the University for the first time are required to attend one of two freshmen meetings to be held in Corcoran Hall 10 Wednesday at 12:10 p. m. and at 5:10 p. m.

Provost William Allen Wilbur will preside at these meetings and introduce the speakers, who will be Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the University; Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, chairman of the Committee on Student Life; Mrs. Winnie G. Barrows, director of Women's Personnel Guidance, and Professors Atwell and Pixlee, heads of Women's and Men's Athletics, respectively.

If you are a freshman do not fail to attend one of these meetings.

NOTICE TO NEW STUDENTS

Mental alertness and intelligence tests will be given on Friday and Saturday, September 23 and 24. They will be given in Building W, Room 10, for morning students on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and for evening students Friday at 5 o'clock. These tests are required of all new undergraduate students entering George Washington.

Football Season Opens Saturday at Lexington When Colonials Encounter Washington and Lee; Special Train to Carry Legion of Enthusiasts

Local Aggregation and W. & L.
Eleven Appear to Be
Evenly Matched

WARNER SYSTEM USED

Four Men Fight for Guard
Positions; Parrish
At Fullback

Two teams that piled up good records last year, and threaten to do even better during the coming campaign, will clash on fairly even terms when the George Washington University gridiron encounter the Washington and Lee eleven at Lexington, Virginia, next Saturday.

Reports on the Washington and Lee outfit are scarce and seem to be well guarded, but those that do trickle in furnish grounds for the belief that in meeting last year's Virginia State champions, the local aggregation is taking on one of its toughest assignments of the year. Indications point to a closely drawn battle.

Eight letter men from the team that trounced V. M. I., V. P. L. and Virginia are back with the Generals this year. Coach Jimmy DeHart, who piloted the way last season, also remains. With Mattox and Hanley, stellar back and end, respectively, furnishing the spearhead of attack and employing the Warner double-wing back system, DeHart has an offense that is hard to stop. And that is exactly what the Generals may be, hard to stop.

But if the Generals are hard to stop it may also transpire that Coach Jim Pixlee has the material to stop them. With four good men still fighting it out for the two guard positions, and the remainder of the line made up of Nielson and Slaird at tackle, Blackstone at center, and Mulvey and Chambers taking care of the ends, it is more than probable that the Generals will

Dance, Entertainment Wednesday Evening

Student Council Sponsors
First Event of Social Season; Band to Play

Welcome Night will be held at the University on Wednesday night, September 21, from 9:30 to 1, to greet all new and old students of George Washington University.

This annual affair, the first social function of the year, to which all students are invited as guests of the University, has been arranged under the direction of the Student Council. The program for the evening includes a band concert, special entertainment by the Troubadours, refreshments, and dancing in both Corcoran and Stockton halls.

The first attraction of the evening will be a concert by the University Band on the campus at 9:30 p. m. Two orchestras, one in Corcoran Hall and the other in Stockton Hall, will play for dancing until 1 o'clock.

During intermission there will be special entertainment in Corcoran Hall by members of the Troubadours. This feature will include song hits from last year's show success, "Happy Landings," by Ruth Molyneux, a trio under the direction of Dan Beattie, and a special dance by the girls' chorus. Refreshments by Lawmans, caterers, will be served throughout the evening.

Handbook Published In New Handy Size

Rhinehart and Associates Produce Compact, Well
Planned Student Guide

The handbook which you have received this morning has been a result of many a sultry summer afternoon's work by Walter Rhinehart, its editor, and his board of associates, consisting of Evelyn Eller, James Busick, Kathryn Dille, Dorothy Heflebower, and Margaret Leibler.

The new handy size combined with the layout makes it one of the best handbooks ever produced. The new small size was chosen in order to make it easier to carry about and so better serve its purpose as handy information on the University and its activities.

The contents were divided into four major divisions with an index. The first division called "General Information" gives important dates for freshmen and upper classmen as well as salient facts interesting to everyone regarding the University, its history, and its environs.

The second section known as "Activities Lists" give all the prominent activities of the University, their officers, and a short explanatory note giving the scope and work of each activity. This will be of particular interest to extracurricular minded students. This section also includes the most popular George Washington University yells and songs, and among the latter is the new George Washington Rouser Song.

Includes Sports Schedules. Sports in section three include Women's Varsity, Intramurals and Interfraternity. It includes the game schedules, the results of last year's games

University Law School Shows Marked Progress in Publication of Legal Review

John A. McIntire Appointed Editor of New Periodical; Faculty Board Named as Associates; Departmental Advisors to Be Added Later

Publication of the George Washington Law Review, beginning with a Bicentennial number to appear in November, will be a noteworthy step in the progress of the Law School and an outstanding achievement for the University in 1932.

The purpose of the new Review as stated in the plan of organization is:

1. To assist in establishing mutually helpful relations between the school and the legal profession.
2. To give the law students an opportunity to fit themselves better for work in the legal profession.
3. To promote the clarification and development of the law especially in the branches of governmental law and Federal public law.

G. W. U. in Good Location. Just another law review would be a superfluous addition to an already overcrowded field. The peculiar location and contacts of the George Washington University, however, make possible a contribution to the field of legal pe-

RETURN SAME EVENING

Gate and Key Society Sponsors Trip; Tea Dance Will Follow Game

Displaying an enthusiasm that should encourage and stir the football team to paramount efforts, a young army of students and alumni are planning to visit historic Lexington Saturday, September 24, when the first engagement of the local football season will be fought out under Southern skies between the Colonials of George Washington University and the Generals of Washington and Lee. The expedition is being sponsored by Gate and Key.

Few changes have transpired in plans for the journey since the first announcement was made several weeks ago. The special Chesapeake and Ohio train will leave Washington at 7:30 instead of 8 a. m., as previously planned. Luncheon will be served in the restaurant at Washington and Lee, and a tea dance will be held immediately following the game.

The return trip will be made the same evening, leaving Lexington at 8 o'clock and getting back to Washington about an hour after midnight. Return trip tickets are good on all regular C. & O. trains from Staunton to Washington the next day, so that those who wish to do so may stay over and visit relatives, or the like. Staunton is thirty miles by rail from Lexington, or thirty-six miles by bus.

Round trip tickets at the nominal charge of $5 per person are obtainable at specially provided booths on the campus, or at the Hatchet office, or from any member of the committee on arrangements, which includes C. Manley Feeler, chairman; John T. Vivian, and Theodore Rhinehart.

Rumors have been circulating that trick caps colored buff and blue will be worn by a number of the rooters. These will probably be made available before the date of the game, together with copies of the new song. A giant pep rally is also being arranged to back up the organized cheering units.

The University Band, resplendent in their blue uniforms, will furnish music on the train as well as at the game. All in all, a gala day and a festive pilgrimage is promised, and all that yet remains to complete the merriment and good cheer is a realization of the prospects for a well-earned, jubilant victory.

WASHINGTON, D. C. SATURDAY, SEPT. 17, 1932

Upwards of 2,000 students are registering in George Washington University for the first time. To you newcomers, The Hatchet extends a cordial welcome and we hope that your stay here will prove both profitable and pleasant.

There are a few things which we feel it may not be amiss to say to you. George Washington has accomplished much since the class of 1933 registered as freshmen. Many more opportunities will present themselves to you than have been offered in the past. The faculty has been increased. More courses are offered and extracurricular activities have multiplied several times during the last few years. You should resolve to make the most of all that comes within the scope of your personal resources.

Be active! Your college career will be greatly augmented if you make the most of your chances to associate with your fellow students. We do not mean that you should neglect your studies. Good marks are important. And at George Washington good marks are required. But time outside of classrooms may and should be profitably and pleasantly employed. There are many social organizations here; also there are many professional and semi-academic groups. Find the one or ones for which you are suited and help yourself by helping them in their work.

Athletics, publications, glee clubs, dramatics, the Troubadours, and various social fraternities and sororities are only a few of the many extracurricular activities that are open to you—besides your own freshmen organization.

Do not try too much. Be careful in your selection, but above all, be sure to get into something. And when you do, go into it with your whole heart and soul. You will be surprised how much you can do with only a few hours each week.

RUSHING

In a few days there will be a mad scramble on the part of fraternities and sororities to contact eligible freshmen. Complicated rush rules will not make the season any more pleasant. It seems to The Hatchet that these rules could be simplified.

We understand that an attempt was made in the Interfraternity Council to abolish all rush rules except one which would prohibit replying of students during the same semester in which the original pledge was made. Such action would have been a step in the right direction.

Among the better colleges all over the country the tendency during the past two or three years has been to do away with rush rules entirely. In many of these colleges pledging has been deferred to the second semester of the school year. This plan, we think, is the best solution to the problem for a great many reasons.

In the first place fraternities can not be sure of their men in the few days allotted them by our present system. Neither can the man be sure of the group. Both the rushees and the organizations are apt to play up to the occasion for the period of rushing, and when they revert to normal both are liable to disappointment. Would it not be much better to eliminate this possibility by taking the entire semester to look each other over? And the chances are that neither party would continue their dramatics for such an extended period.

Many freshmen are very gullible. They certainly can not be expected to be "up" on college fraternities in any but exceptional cases. Every season we see cases of misfits. Students get into the wrong groups due to the pressure brought to bear during the rush period. There is much bowing and gushing which ends when the prospect is pledged. While there may not be downright misrepresentation, there certainly is evasion and allegation of facts,—which would not stand up under a semester's scrutiny by the freshmen. And, in our opinion, there would not be such a casualty in fraternal roles at the beginning of the next year if the groups took more time—a semester—to look over prospective members.

A rush season costs money! It costs lots of money. And a very considerable portion of this money is wasted when we consider the percentage of students who are accepted by the organizations in comparison to the number who are so lavishly entertained in a pell-mell, catch-as-catch-can system of rushing. Why not do away with all these complicated rules and go into the thing in a manner which will reflect creditably upon organizations composed of mature, thinking individuals?

THE WASHINGTON & LEE GAME

Next Saturday the football team goes to Washington and Lee University to play the first game of the season. From all indications the day promises to be a gala one. The Band is going—60 strong—and W. & L. is giving a tea dance for the visitors after the game. Everyone is in fine spirits. We expect to win that game. But it may not be easy. In other words, the team needs all the support available. Do your share and get in on the fun. Tickets are on sale. Get yours early and let's put on a demonstration that will not be soon forgotten.

CHIPS

Oh! I heard! I only heard and you heard,—in fact, we all heard. What did we hear? That's what everyone's saying now that they're back and at it again. Just a word about the summer before we take up where we left off. Of course you attended the Summer School Ball featuring Professor Bolwell's pet stringed trio and our modern band, the jazz orchestra. How about this recipe for G. W. punch? Wash one orange in a tub of water. Serve after dark in paper cups to avoid scrutiny or criticism. Orange may be used again if carefully kept. This year's orange entered its sixth year. Another Olympic champion as 'twere. Enrollment seems to have been affected this summer by the depression, or was it the drop from six to four hours in that Geology course? It's too bad that the presidential election and rushing come at the same time this year, for it's a cinch that the chief executive squabble is going to feel the neglect. After four years of total exclusion of the male sex, Pauline Schaub, stately beauty, activities queen, and member of the intelligentsia, chooses Grant VanDemark, campus Vanderbilt, as the first recipient of her suppressed desires. "Errare humanum est." Fesler, the University Bonus Army, completed summer school after a successful lobbying campaign. Dr. Hunt defied the heat, and showing her progressive nature, appeared with roll tops at the annual dance. Brad Swope panicked the feminine hearts at Virginia Beach in a lieutenant's uniform when the Marine Reserves held their annual camp. Potter and Vivian were there to carry the baggage. Now that they have concreted the sidewalk by Corcoran hall there is no way left for enterprising coeds to meet their male victims by stumbling over the bricks, dropping books, and other such gags. The Phi Sig radio parties (synonym for pre-season rush parties) were in evidence all summer. Kitty Blake is featuring one of these unemployment tans since Vivian lost his job and the buggy can't run without gas. Ross Shearer is putting that old adage "Absence makes the heart grow fonder," to a scientific test on Betty Rees since his return from Texas territory. The Old Dominion Boat Club, once the gathering place of Washington's social flotsam, has become the rendezvous for exclusive George Washington pleasure seekers. Whew, boys! Go see Naha. It might (?) keep you warm these cool fall nights. Marie Siegrist spent four years being perfectly oblivious to her figure, but since her graduation, corn bread and fruit salad luncheons have been indulged in to meet the classic measurements. $5.00 reward will be paid for the name of the man. From a cursory examination of Ray Heimburger since his return, it might be remarked that if nothing else has happened to him on his Caribbean trip, he has mastered a true seaman's vocabulary of profanity. Dr. Borden will lead alumni to Lexington. If our alumni are like other college alumni we read about in magazines, they may need a couple of doctors. It looks like everybody is getting married these days. And that's enough of that. It's bad luck to even say the word. Pre-Rush Season news. A. D. Pi redecorates two rooms—the Chi O's are filthy with the lucre and remodeled the whole shooting match—Jean Sime has set up a studio in the Pi Phi nest. It gives that arts appeal. The K. A.'s got a new domicile. The Sigma Nu's paid another month's rent and are all set with plenty of hope for a big season. The Theta Delta's got a new house mother—now, it's not Benny Newton. The Sigma Chi's also have been heaving the paint brush and wall paper paste with hopeful eye. Yes, Malkus is still chasing Dille. She almost caught him last week. How do you like the Handbook? Just the thing to throw away, eh? Alice Buell is a Hoover Democrat. File with extinct birds. Sickler is back! The old guard dies, but it never graduates. Harrington's gone Garbo with a new haircut acquired during the summer. Hale and Jamieson are picking up a few rocks with a script dance tonight at the S. A. E. shack. A little cheer and pleasant dreams. Au revoir.

—DICK ROLLO.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

—The chair of bacteriology at George Washington University has been held successively by Theobald Smith, Walter Reed and Frederick Russell, the three most important figures in the history of the science.

—Dr. Erritt Cyril Albritton, head of the department of physiology, for the past six years was professor of physiology in the Government Medical School in Bangkok, Siam.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes's copy of Shakespeare's plays was recently presented to Folger Shakespeare Memorial Library.

—Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud, who comes to George Washington University this year as head of the department of biochemistry, attended the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute at Dresden, University of Edinburgh, and University College of Medicine, London.

—The degree of doctor of philosophy has been conferred upon three faculty members since the close of school in June. Prof. Elmer Louis Kayser, of the history department, receives the doctorate from Columbia University, Ralph Dale Kennedy, of the department of economics, from the University of Iowa, and Christopher Browne Garnett, Jr., of the philosophy department, from the University of Edinburgh.

—George Washington University Law School will institute this fall its new scholarly publication, "The George Washington University Law Review." Specializing in governmental and federal public law, the Review will carry articles by leading authorities in these fields.

—The School of Education this fall is adding a new degree for graduate work in education—the degree of doctor of education. This degree differs from the doctor of philosophy in that the emphasis is upon the application of educational theory and practical achievement rather than research. It prepares for administrative and normal school work.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO: Wednesday, September 25, 1907, the university started its 86th year. President Needham and Dean Wilbur addressed the student assembly. The largest freshman class in the history of the University, numbering 50, was registered. The college of the political sciences was added to the University. Saturday, September 28, 1907, a reception to new students was given by George Washington University congress. Football prospects were brighter than ever before. The varsity eleven lost a practice game to the Navy Yard, 6-0. Capt. Gunning was the outstanding figure for the Buff and Blue.

Troubadours' Band Larger This Year

Applicants for Orchestra, Staff Positions Communicate With Dan Beattie

The forthcoming Troubadour show will feature an even larger orchestra than that which added so greatly to the success of "Happy Landings," the 1931 show, and the organization of the orchestra is practically complete, although several more musicians, particularly violinists, are needed. Applications should be made to Dan Beattie at 1714 Rhode Island avenue N. W.

A number of positions on the various staffs of the Troubadours are still open. Applicants should communicate with Beattie or a member of the board immediately. Also, all persons desiring to submit music should get in touch with the music director now.

Notice of tryouts for the cast and dancing choruses will be announced in later issues of The Hatchet.

For the eighth successive year, Denis Connell, well-known Washington director, will act as dramatic coach of the show. Production is under the direction of the board, consisting of Dan Beattie, managing director and music director; Dean Longfellow, staging director; George Wells, production director; Dorothy Hefebower, business director; Ruth Warren, costume director; Christine Spignul, dancing director, and Catherine Prichard, publicity director.

Robert Boyle

Robert Boyle, center on the George Washington University football teams of 1928 and 1929, died August 9, at Sibley Hospital.

He held the District of Columbia amateur lightweight championship in 1931. In 1930, he was a member of the G. W. boxing team.

Boyle was a member of the Washington City Rho chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

See you in Lexington.

Fraternity Committee Students Seek Help Buys Cooperatively Of Loan Committee

Saves Money on Food, Coal; Headed By William Helvestine.

Many Applications Received by Chairman West Requesting Loans

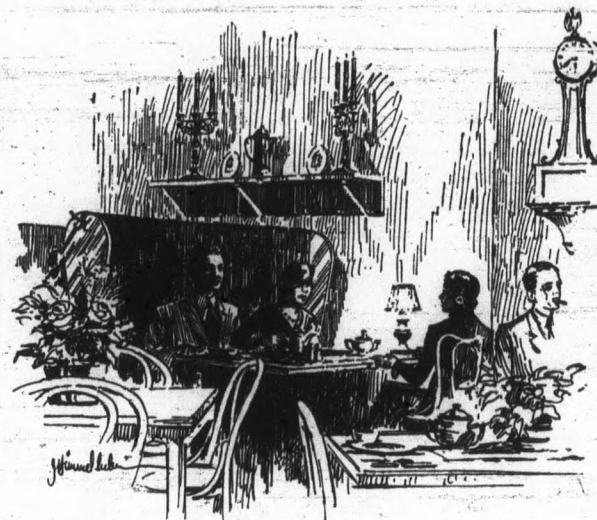

Work by the Interfraternity Committee on cooperative buying got under way last night when the house committee on Cooperative Buying got under their first meeting.

William Helvestine, of Acacia, has been appointed by the Interfraternity Council to take charge of this committee. It aims to save the fraternities money by cooperative buying of food and coal.

The idea originated in The Hatchet editorial columns and was immediately given impetus by the Interfraternity Council.

All aboard for Lexington.

Twenty-four Years Of Peace Will End In November Clash

Colonial Gridmen to Meet Washington and Lee Eleven for Fourth
Time in History.

When the George Washington eleven invades Lexington, Va., next Saturday to engage the Washington and Lee team it will mark the first encounter of the two teams in 24 years. The last time the two teams met was on November 7, 1908, here in Washington. Prior to 1908 teams representing the two universities had met twice—in 1897 and in 1905.

In 1897 the Orange and Blue of Columbian University, as our team was then designated, met the Washington and Lee eleven in the first game of the season. This game resulted in a 10-to-2 victory for Washington and Lee, one of the strongest teams in the South that year. George Washington's eleven of that year was ably managed by Graham Nichols and captained by Granville Lewis.

The next meeting of the two teams occurred on Thanksgiving morning, 1905, and resulted in a 17 to 0 victory for the light, but very fast team from Washington and Lee. Morris, a tackle, was the outstanding player for George Washington, making several long gains as well as playing a brilliant game on the line.

G. W. Victor in '08.

The last time the two teams met was in American League Park here in Washington, on November 7, 1908, and resulted in a 38 to 6 victory for George Washington, South Atlantic champions of that year. In this game, quarterback Byrd, now director of athletics at Maryland, played a stellar game throughout; his trick plays were especially effective and resulted in a 16 to 6 lead for George Washington at the half. The second half was featured by long runs by Crafts, one for 75 yards after receiving a pass from Fuerstein. The excellent interference of Capt. Sommers, Ellis and Thrall also contributed greatly to the one-sided victory of the Buff and Blue.

The Colonials enter the game next Saturday with a record of one victory and two defeats in their relations with the Generals. They will be out to repeat the victory of 1908.

Coch Pixlee Strengthens Staff With Hale and Lee

With a difficult schedule staring him boldly in the face Coach James E. Pixlee has bolstered his coaching staff two points: John Lee, an instructor in the School of Pharmacy, will be assistant varsity coach in charge of line-men. Marion "Barney" Hale, a veteran of two G. W. varsity campaigns, will be assistant freshman coach.

Lee, a native of Charleston, Md., won distinction as a tackle at the University of Oklahoma. In the 1929 season he was elected a tackle on the "Big Six Team."

Hale, a student in the School of Education, has completed his allotted span of intercollegiate competition. Barney played the tackle position on the 1930 and 1931 Colonial elevens. Grand View, Texas, is his home town.

Pixlee, returns as head coach, and will again be supported by his able first lieutenant, Leonard Walsh. Bill Meyers will govern the back field for the second season. Meyers played at Westminster in '25 and '26 under Chief Pixlee. He later transferred to Occidental College, where he was elected All Conference fullback in 1930.

Jean Sexton will coach the Frosh eleven, and Max Farrington continues in the capacity of assistant director of athletics. Farrington handles the detail of the office work.

Buff and Blue Gridironers Snapped in Action at Training Camp

Camp Lets Scene of Pre-Season Colonial Gridiron Activities; Freshmen Battle Varsity in Preparation for Opening Encounter

Coed Glad to Be Girl After Visit to Pixlee's Football Camp

By VIRGINIA HAWKINS

Just one short visit to the football camp ought to be enough to convince any girl that she's lucky she's not a boy and have to go through all of those things Mr. James E. Pixlee and his corps of lieutenants have down there. Nothing more than eat, sleep and work, and loads of it, are on the daily program.

From the moment this adventure-some, but embarrassed co-ed arrived at Camp Letts until the time she left, nothing but an indefinite series of most peculiar devices were put in use.

To start things off, Coach Pixlee hitched up a half of a dozen big husky boys to a harness and made them actually plow up a field bordering the camp. It seemed awfully late in the year to be doing that.

Following that extraordinary pro-

Colonial 1932 Eleven Expected to Make Stronger Showing Than Last Year; Reserve Squad Exceptionally Able; Injured Men Amount to Eight

By GORDON V. POTTER

One afternoon at Camp Letts, the site of the George Washington football team's training camp, is enough to convince the most skeptical of the sterling quality of the Colonial footballers. The varsity eleven, despite the numerous injuries sustained in training camp, should be stronger than a year ago. Bolstered by a large, capable band of reserves the first team should go far before suffering defeat. The better quality of the reserve material, this fall, will allow Coach James Pixlee to substitute at will without endangering the strength of the team. He has men of experience ready for any position.

The excellent showing of the sophomores has the effect of spurring the varsity men to greater efforts, as a few of the line positions are open to all comers, despite the fact that the men who played regular last season are back in camp.

Daily Scrimmages

A week ago last Sunday the Colonials began their training, which consists of two hours' scrimmage, morning and afternoon, with various drills on the machines interspersed between morning and afternoon scrimmages.

The daily scrimmages which began two days after the boys' arrival, have been of material benefit to those who have been endeavoring to gain some idea of the 1932 team's ability. The spirit of the entire varsity squad has been of the highest calibre, and every man has been giving until it hurts—literally. All are intensely eager to begin intercollegiate competition. This spirit is most conclusively shown in the intensity that is displayed daily in the intra-squad competition. So hard and furious have they battled among themselves that several have met disaster in the form of injury.

Defensively the team right now shapes up well, while offensively the outfit is lacking something in smoothness of execution. However, with the return of the injured men, it is expected that the eleven will click off their plays like an assembly of robots. Of the injured, Lee Carlin, sterling

Zuzu Out for a Day

The linesmen's injuries are on a par with the backs. Roy McKinnis is out with a bad leg, while Hardy Pearce is also nursing an injured limb. While these men are both on the reserve squad, their worth has been manifest during the training camp period. Zuzu Stewart, famed for his inimitable style of playing guard on his hands and knees continually, and also owner and master of that famous mongrel, but good fellow, "Shorty," was out for a few days, but Zuzu would not be kept down, and on Thursday he was back in the fray, crawling about, mashing up plays like a boy with muddies.

Some of the new sophomores have shown such strength in training camp workouts that it is doubtful if all of the returning regulars will start the initial game with Washington and Lee.

Newcomers Show Up Well

Notable among the newcomers are Hardy Pearce and Johnny Baker.

Strong Freshman Eleven Shows Prospects of a Brilliant Season

By JOHN EVERETT

Another freshman football team as good as if not better than the 1929 array of yearling gridmen who finished a hard schedule with an unblemished record is expected by the Colonial mentors. An unusually healthy and robust squad of 23 are being instructed in the fine points of the Warner system of play employed by the Buff and Blue board of strategy.

The "blue shirts," as the frosh are dubbed, have been far more fortunate than their varsity brothers in that injuries have not been as frequent among them as with the varsity. Other than a few twisted knees and "charley horses," Jean Sexton's hardy gang are as a whole physically O. K.

In addition to learning their own list of plays, the Cubs have been taught the intricacies of the Washington and Lee formation for use against the varsity candidates in their daily scrimmages. Careful conditioning has been stressed throughout by Coach Sexton to curb ambitious yearlings. The spirit shown by the "blue shirts" is a wholehearted one which deems no good for their future opponents on the gridiron. Great things are expected of these youngsters, and if given an even break in the coming season there is no reason why they shouldn't prove to be as good as any previous G. W. freshman team.

Band of Sixty-Five Ready for W. and L. After Steady Work

Concert to Be Held Wednesday Evening; Music Will Be Furnished
Friday for Pep Rally.

A band of 65 musicians! That is the goal which Director Louis Malkus has set for the opening football game against Washington and Lee.

The band has been practicing nightly for the past week. Besides participating in the grand parade reenacting the laying of the cornerstone of the Capitol this Saturday, the band will also play a short concert for the students before the "mixer" on Wednesday evening, and furnish music for the pep rally to be held on Friday evening. With seven at-home football games this fall, in addition to attending the Washington and Lee game at Lexington, Va., the band will set some sort of a record for playing in the greatest number of football games in one season.

Advance indications are that approximately twenty-five new men will try for places in the band this fall, and combined with the 40 returning to school, the band will be the largest band to represent any university in or near Washington. With the purchase of several additional instruments, the band will compare favorably with the Army, Navy and Marine Bands as regards proper instrumentation.

Malkus Pleased.

That Director Malkus is pleased with prospects for a finer University Band this school year, is evident when he said: "With the continued splendid support of the student body, we expect to put on the field and in concert a band of which every student in the George Washington University may be proud, along with the football team and other organizations that have done so much to make the name of George Washington University well known."

New musicians wishing to try out for the band should get in touch with Director Malkus immediately at the band office which is located in Building Q on Twentieth street. New members who are sufficiently qualified may still make the Washington and Lee trip. The band office will be open all day each day of registration.

Fall Sport Program Planned by Women

Hockey, Soccer, Golf, Tennis, Riding Classes Placed on Schedule

The program of fall sports for women, including credit classes and class team practices, has been completed by the physical education department for women, and is outlined below:

Hockey—Beginners, 1 p. m., Monday and Friday, Tuesday and Thursday; advanced, 2 p. m., Monday and Friday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Soccer—Beginners, 1 p. m., Monday and Friday, Tuesday and Thursday; advanced, 2 p. m., Monday and Friday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Golf—3 p. m., Monday and Friday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Tennis—9 a. m., Tuesday and Thursday; 11 a. m., Monday and Friday, Tuesday and Thursday; 2 p. m., Monday and Friday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Riding—Hours to be arranged.

All classes begin on Monday, September 26.

Don't miss W. & L. game.

Practices for class teams are scheduled at the same hours as the credit classes. Upperclassmen are urged to come out for teams and in this way continue their freshman and sophomore work in athletics. It should be remembered that the Women's Athletic Association ruling governing upperclassmen participation in sports states that "an upperclassman shall participate in one strenuous sport only during a given season." The strenuous sports in the fall consist of hockey and soccer, while tennis, golf and riding are classified as light sports.

Rules for Women's Rushing Announced

Pamphlets Containing Entire Program Will Be Distributed

The Panhellenic Association announces the following program and rules effective during the rushing and pre-rushing season of 1932. The rushing rules apply to all new women students of the University as well as to those unaffiliated women having matriculated in the University before.

Rushing Program:

September 26 to October 2—Non-communication off campus.

October 2—Rushing begins at 4 p. m.

October 3, 4—Open rushing.

October 5, 6, 7, 8—Closed dates—Non-communication except during time of own function.

October 9, 10, 11—Open rushing.

October 12—Final party.

October 13—Non-communication from

Peggy Silber, Nance Hall, Ed Hall, Virginia Hawkins and Wyn Weitzel were at Orkney Springs over Labor Day week-end.

Margaret Blackstone is spending several weeks with her sister, Virginia Milbourne, in Media, Pennsylvania.

Margaret Claxton attended the University of Maine Summer School.

Lois Corea has just returned from a stay at DuBois, Pa.

STUDENT RETURNS FROM CARIBBEAN CRUISE

Roy Heimbarger just returned from Ron Hubbard's Caribbean cruise.

Lambie House Open During Registration

Campus Organizations Will Act as Hostesses to University Women

Open house for all University women is being held in the Lambie house from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. on Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday, the days of registration.

This opening social function of the year is being supervised by a temporary committee composed of the presidents of various campus organizations. The committee is headed by Helen Swick.

Various organizations will act as hostesses during the day, as follows:

Saturday:

10-12, History Club and Home Economics Club.

12-2, History Club and Gamma Eta Zeta.

2-4, International Club and Phi Delta.

4-6, Pi Beta Phi, Phi Delta Gamma, and League of Women Voters.

Monday:

10-12, Alpha Epsilon Phi.

12-2, Drama Appreciation Club and Orchestras.

2-4, Phi Sigma Sigma and Chi Omega.

4-6, Zeta Tau Alpha and Alpha Delta Pi.

Tuesday:

10-12, Women's Athletic Association and Symphony Club.

12-2, Phi Mu and Kappa Delta.

2-4, Student Council, Sigma Kappa, and Colonial Campus Club.

4-6, Hour Glass and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

midnight, October 12, until pledging.

October 14—Pledge Day.

Rushing Rules:

1. Non-communication from 12 midnight to 8 a. m., during rush season, except during longer specified periods. Non-communication is absolute silence, i. e., no talking, telephoning, or writing.

Exception—Mailing form invitations and answers.

2. Communication means casual greetings and is allowed within the limits of the University campus, Quigley's and the Food Shop not included.

3. A closed date means that a sorority has a certain selected time for a party and no other sorority may entertain at the same time in any manner.

It is important that all new women in the University familiarize themselves with this program and with the rules as set down by the Panhellenic Association. Pamphlets containing rushing program, rushing rules, penalties for infringement of rush rules, a list of the sororities comprising the Panhellenic Association, and the cost of initiation into each organization, will be distributed to each new woman at the time of registration. Members of the Panhellenic Council will be present at the Panhellenic table in Corcoran Hall during the entire registration period, and will be glad to answer any questions new students may have concerning the rushing period.

Freshmen Women Invited To Art Appreciation Tea

The Art Appreciation club will give a tea Tuesday afternoon, September 27, from 4 to 6 o'clock, in Lambie House. The affair has been planned to welcome Freshmen women and all others interested in any phase of art.

On to Lexington.

New Women Get Invite
All new women students of the University are cordially invited to attend the Panhellenic Tea on September 25, 1932, at the Kennedy-Warren, from 4 to 7 o'clock.

In the years to come, these days are going to be pleasant memories.

For many of you it is the accomplishment of your desires—the beginning of a College Career, for others, the final struggle to obtain that coveted degree, but for all it will mean new friendships that will endure a lifetime.

You will find "JENNER'S," only two short blocks east of the University, a cafeteria, that desires to participate in those friendships. We extend a real welcome to all G. W. Students.

May we have the privilege of serving you as you desire to be served?

Engineering School Announces Changes

Dr. Chilton Wright to Lecture on Hydraulics; Replaces Van Leer

Dean John R. Lapham of the School of Engineering has announced a number of changes in the teaching staff of that school. Chilton A. Wright, C. E., M. C. E., Ph. D., associate engineer at the National Bureau of Standards, has been added to the faculty of the civil engineering department as a lecturer in hydraulics. Dr. Wright takes the place formerly occupied by Mr. Blake R. Van Leer, who has gone to the University of Florida to take the position of Dean of the School of Engineering of that institution.

Norman B. Ames, professor of electrical engineering is on sabbatical leave and has moved to Cambridge, Massachusetts. During the first semester Professor Ames will do advanced work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He will again undertake his duties in his department at the beginning of the second semester in February, 1933.

Mr. Chester A. Hogentogler, lecturer in highway engineering will not teach in the University this year due to changes in the civil engineering curriculum which have caused the courses in highway engineering to be given in the senior year instead of in the junior year as has previously been done.

New Associate.
Roger Smith, B. S. in E. E., 1932, George Washington University, has joined the staff of the electrical engineering department as an associate in the electrical engineering laboratory.

Changes in the equipment of the engineering school include the addition of the new synchronous motor spring-coupled to one of the present generators. The addition of the new motor will permit the abandonment of the pony brake in laboratory work and will insure much better accuracy in determining the results of certain routine tests. The capacity of the work benches has been increased in the electrical laboratory.

Dramatists Arrange New Play Program

Columbian Women May Sponsor Cue and Curtain's First Production

Cue and Curtain has arranged an exceptionally full program with plans already under way for the production of two plays and hopes for a third. The first of these is to be presented some time in October, possibly sponsored by the Columbian Women.

Practically all of last year's players are returning to school and with considerable freshman talent expected to fill any gaps, the only serious losses are Hazen Shea and Frank Westbrook.

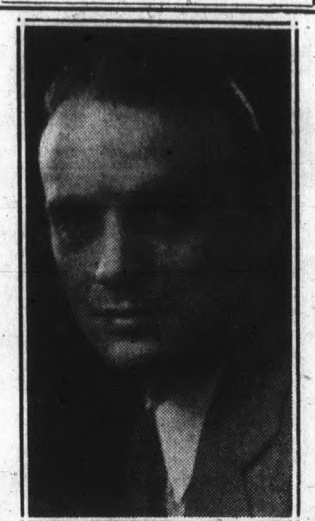

Miss Constance Conner Brown will continue to direct the work in the same efficient manner that made last year's dramatic presentations so successful. She will be assisted by Louise Wright, who will fill the executive position left vacant by the resignation of Shea, and Joseph Danzansky, secretary and treasurer. Production will be worked out by the following staff: Karl Gay and Joseph Danzansky, business managers; Robert Savage, publicity manager; Wallace Hayes, property manager; Louise Wright, costume mistress; Alice Colton, make up; Newell Lushy, electrician.

A stage manager has not yet been appointed, but several applications are being considered.

Try-outs for the fall play will be held as soon as the club is able to make more definite plans.

That new song is a pip.

WHO'S WHO ON THE CAMPUS

T. Elton Billings is president of the Student Council for the present school year. He is a senior in the Law school, where he has been prominent in fraternal and school activities.

Elton hails from Utah, where he attended the Brigham Young university. Before matriculating in college he was student body president of his high school. During his college days he was active in dramatics and debating and was given the honor of presiding over the sophomore class.

His ability and personality were soon recognized upon his arrival in Washington. He was appointed to the secretarial staff of Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, dean of the Senate; and also was given an assignment as student assistant to Professor Richard N. Owens. During the second year of his stay in Washington he was elected president of the Utah State society, which is one of the most outstanding organizations of its type in the Nation's Capital. For the past year he has been clerk of the Senate Finance committee, where one of his many duties was to assist that august body in its efforts to start the famous tax bill of 1932 on its journey through the Senate.

Last year Elton was president of Woodrow Wilson Senate of Delta Theta Phi Legal fraternity and guided it through a very successful season. At the conclusion of his year as president he was honored by being elected to the post of tribune, or representative to the national chapter.

The Law school elected Elton as its representative on the Student Council and that body chose him as its president.

and the awards and their requirements. The last section is devoted to organizations beginning with the social fraternities, which includes a resume of their rush rules and activities. The honorary and professional fraternities are listed under their respective heads in alphabetical order including their presidents and secretaries with their addresses and phone number. The clubs are listed in the same manner with a short paragraph after each, explaining their purpose.

This year's book is expected to be a step forward in making the Handbook more useful and necessary to every student during the school year.

cedure the same number of boys were made to push a huge, heavy and most odd-looking sled from one end of the football field to the other. Some sand bags dangling in the air were next the center of attraction. One after the other would run a little ways and jump on these dangerous looking bags until they were puffing from wind and perspiration covered their bruised and dirty faces.

It was terribly monotonous watching a crowd of men just running forth. When they got warm after a while and began to shed various pieces of clothes, we thought that we'd look around some other part of the camp. A whole lot of nice looking cabins with so many windows in them was where the boys slept. The cutest looking beds were in them too.

After the practice was over the poor, tired fellows, without so much as giving us a break, disappeared into their cabins and we were left all alone—deserted. We'll certainly be glad when Mr. Pixlee doesn't work those poor boys so hard, because we aren't getting any attention.

Pearce, a six-foot-two husky from Texas, has been groomed for a running guard's work and so far has handled himself in veteran fashion. He is especially proficient in blocking, his efforts in this respect giving the ball carriers added confidence and zeal. Baker, also from Texas, is a fine blocker, runner, and passes about as well as any on the squad, excepting Fenlon, and the now defunct Carlin.

Christopher Doose has been showing up well at guard, while Vincent Geringer has been playing a fine defensive guard and offensive tackle. Among the punters, besides Art Kriemelmeyer, are Kirk Norton and Burrell Steele, both newcomers to G. W. U.

Parrish—Line Plunger.
Bill Parrish, who was shifted from the line to the backfield, is showing remarkable promise as a line plunger and a man to send off tackle. If the opposition is not taken out by the interference, Bill takes 'em out on his way to the goal line. Arthur Ricketts, who is spending his first year with George Washington, does well at halfback.

No, the University has not added an agricultural course to the curriculum. These are a few of Pixlee's men who do not believe in letting the grass grow under their feet and they are doing some of their regular conditioning work for a Hatchet cameraman.

Dr. Travis Will Address Lutheran Club First Meet

Dr. A. J. Traver will be the guest speaker at the first meeting of the Luther Club, which is to be held on Tuesday evening, September 27, at 8 o'clock, in the Lambie house.

There will be a brief business meeting, at which nominations will be made for the election of officers. A social hour will follow. The elections will take place at the October meeting.

Trimble Sawtelle visited relatives in Atlantic City during the week of September 5.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

There is no reason why you can't drive to the W. & L. game Saturday at Lexington, Va., according to the American Automobile Association, who furnishes the above road map for your convenience. The distance is 192 miles.

Hatchet Reporters

All candidates for positions on the Hatchet staff are asked to be present at the meeting in the Hatchet office Sunday evening, September 25, when the next issue of the Hatchet will be prepared.

All candidates should also report in Corcoran Hall 29 on Friday, September 23. Two meetings have been arranged, one at 2 p. m. and another at 8:30 p. m. Application blanks are available on the second floor of the Hatchet Office, and assignments will be found in the assignment book for all who fill out blanks. The point is stressed that each hopeful reporter must fill out one of the application blanks, regardless of whether he has previously served on The Hatchet.

School of Pharmacy Plans To Cooperate in Campaign

The School of Pharmacy has planned to co-operate during Pharmacy Week, beginning October 4, with a campaign presenting the professional side of Pharmacy. They have prepared a series of window displays through the drug stores of the District and Maryland, the first of which is now being shown at the Capitol Heights Pharmacy, Capitol Heights, Maryland. Several species of plants will be obtained from the Arlington Experimental Farm through the Food and Drug Plant Department of the Department of Agriculture for this work.

In June the Pharmacy School had a display of animal products at 1923 Pennsylvania avenue in connection with the Pharmacognosy glandular products, the part of the animal from which they were obtained, and the final preparation.

Law School Shows Progress In Publication of New Review

tors will be appointed in the near future. The purpose of this board will be to secure the assistance and co-operation of specialists in the fields of legal practice to be covered. To carry on the student work in connection with the Review the following board of student editors have been named: Stuart K. Barnes, Stephen W. Biore, Leland L. Chapman, John W. Cragun, John D. Eldridge, Jr., William L. Ellis, Floyd L. France, Donald J. Goode, Pauline Grossman, Mary S. Gulick, Paul F. Hanna, Philip F. Herrick, George H. Keatley, Robert C. Kline, John Lannan, Henry D. Linscott, Gerald J. Meindl, Oswald H. Milmore, Robert S. Milans, John J. Morris, Bernard I. Nordlinger, Allan Owen, Curtis F. Prangle, M. Hudson Rathburn, Marguerite Rawalt, James H. Ronald, Clarence F. Rothenburg, Andrew H. Schmeltz, Harry D. Scott, Keith L. Seegmiller, R. S. Smethurst, J. Winston Steele, John L. Stover, George L. Tone.

The work of this board will consist in the preparation of student notes and comments on recent legal decisions and timely topics within the scope of the publication. Appointments to the student staff have been made by the faculty editorial board on the basis of high scholastic standing and general ability to contribute to the work of the Review. Selections were made from those students of the Law School who had completed forty semester hours or more with a general average of at least B.

Will Cover Many Branches of Law
The Review is to appear quarterly throughout the academic year in November, January, March, and May. A subscription price of $2.50 per year and $.75 per single copy is to be charged. The specialized classification in the branches of governmental and Federal public law will include: Constitutional law, administrative law, Federal trade regulation, taxation, international law, interstate commerce, Federal Trade Commission, air law, copyrights, trademarks, tariff commission, veteran's administration, and immigration. Each issue will contain leading articles by eminent authorities in their respective branches of learning, editorial notes and comments, recent case annotations, and book reviews of recent publications.

The first issue will appear in November and will feature a leading article by Dean William C. Van Vleck of the Law School on the subject of "Administrative Control of Aliens." Also, an exhaustive study by Mr. Charles A. Miller, of the District of Columbia Bar and professor of legal bibliography in the Law School, on the subject of "The Necessity for Preliminary Resort to the Interstate Commerce Commission."

Government School Adopts Summer Session Expansion

Few changes will be made in the program for the School of Government this year, according to Dr. Warren Reed West, chairman of the executive committee, who hopes to continue the plan of expansion adopted during the summer session. The result of this expansion is being felt by the return of large numbers of students, especially graduates, to continue work initiated during the summer months.

One change has been made in the executive committee for this year. Dr. R. N. Owens will replace Dr. A. C. Wilgus.

find considerable impedance in their way.

Injuries here played havoc with the Colonials' backfield in scrimmage at Camp Letts, but all of the men with the exception of Lee Carlin are expected to be in shape for the game. Johnny Baker's return to duty is especially important, however, as his sensational open field running may mean many yards added to the total of ground gained. Bill Parrish is practically certain to start at fullback, and Johnny Fenlon is being groomed for quarter, displaying an increased ability to throw passes. Other backfield positions are still being contested between Otis Krimelmeyer, star of two years ago; Joe Carter, Nig McCarver, Finis Parrish, and Johnny Matia. The entire starting line up in all probability will not be known until the day of the game.

Cheer Leaders Club Of Twenty Formed

Each Student Will Wear Buff and Blue Cap in Rooting Section

To bring out the best form from the cheering sections this year, a Cheer Leaders' club has been organized, headed by the well-known Jerry Slicker. The club will be composed of 15 or 20 members.

Every student wishing to be in the cheering section will be required to wear a buff and blue cap, the George Washington identification. They are on sale today at the Student Council booth in Corcoran Hall. All students interested in going out for the Cheer Leaders' club should get in touch immediately with Slicker, as the first appearance of the club will be next Saturday at the W. and L. game.

Pirate Cruise of Caribbean Gives Students Thrill

"shorts," news reels, etc. There were artists on board the ship, too, who found inspiration for many paintings in the life of the natives, in the various wild natural scenes, and in the towns themselves.

Senoritas Prove Popular

By way of amusement on board the ship, the boys entertained themselves with chess, bridge, volley ball tournaments, etc., and on land, when they weren't out catching sharks, or herpooning, or visiting some colorful spot, they were capably entertained by the dark-eyed senoritas at the various ports. On being asked at which port he thought the most enjoyable time he had, Ray Heimburger answered promptly, "Undoubtedly at Porto Rico. The best-looking senoritas were there, and since the Midshipmen had just been through there, and the entertaining mood of the senoritas had not worn off yet, we were in for a lot of great parties!"

Thus, in spite of financial worries, the first attempt of its kind ever to be instigated and carried through was not such a failure. Rare scenes, colorful experiences, sea and sky, even a storm, and sloe-eyed senoritas—all combined to make the Piratical Expedition a "Glorious Adventure."

Students Open Book Exchange

A book exchange is being operated again this term by John Lannan and Dale Hill. Stands have been provided opposite the Law School and in front of Quigley's, where students may buy and sell used text books.
